

John Poelman

John Poelman is a Health Policy Analyst in the Office of the Secretary at the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) where he specializes in health care reform, quality improvement initiatives, and medical malpractice reform. John has worked in the Office of the Secretary since 2006 in various capacities including coordinating all briefing materials for the Secretary and as an assistant to the Secretary's Value-driven Health Care Initiative - a program that promotes transparency in quality and cost in healthcare.

John is a native of Utah where he completed his undergraduate education at the University of Utah. Immediately following his time at the U of U, John worked as a Hinckley Intern for HHS. He is currently completing his final coursework for a Master of Public Health at George Washington University.